

International conference

PHILOSOPHICAL METHOD(S)?

December 5–6, 2019

Institute of Philosophy, Zagreb (Croatia), Ulica grada Vukovara 54, 5th floor

PROGRAM

December, 5th	December, 6th
8.45 – 8.55 greetings Morning session 9.00 – 10.00 PLENARY LECTURE: Gerhard Heinzmann (University of Lorraine, Nancy, France), “Truth from a dialogical standpoint” 10.05 – 10.35 Jure Zovko (Institute of Philosophy, Zagreb, Croatia), “Topicality of Socratic method (elenchus)?” 10.40–11.10 Inga Bones (Institut für Philosophie, Karlsruhe, Germany), “Why appeals to forced marches are besides the point in discussion of vagueness” Coffee break 11.30–12.00 Jack Ritchie (University of Cape Town, Cape Town, South Africa), “The methods of naturalized metaphysics” 12.05–12.35 Danielle Macbeth (Haverford College, Haverford, USA), “The discipline of philosophy” 12.40–13.10 Sybren Heyndels (KU Leuven, Leuven, Belgium), “Philosophy as an exercise in conceptual self-consciousness” Lunch break Afternoon session 15.00 – 16.00 PLENARY LECTURE: Mircea Dumitru (University of Bucharest, Bucharest, Romania), “On the normativity of logic: some methodological aspects” 16.05–16.35 Koray Karaca (University of Twente, Enschede, Netherlands), “An epistemological perspective on accountability in machine learning applications” 16.40–17.10 Ljudevit Hanžek (University of Split, Split, Croatia), “Disagreement and metaphilosophical skepticism” Coffee break 17.30–18.00 Miguel Á. Quintana Paz (Universidad Europea Miguel de Cervantes, Valladolid, Spain), “Three different methods in contemporary philosophy for confronting relativism” 18.05–18.35 Lena Könemann (Humboldt University, Berlin, Germany), “In defense of experimental philosophy without intuitions”	Morning session 8.30 – 9.30 PLENARY LECTURE: Martin Kusch (Institut für Philosophie, Wien, Austria), “The new genealogy” 9.35–10.05 Mate Penava and Ivica Musić (University of Mostar, Mostar, Bosnia and Herzegovina), “Therapy as a philosophical method” 10.10–10.40 Ivan Restović (Zagreb, Croatia), “Brouwer’s mystical phenomenology” Coffee break 11.00–11.30 Mindaugas Gilaitis (Vilnius University, Vilnius, Lithuania), “What descriptive conceptual analysis is not” 11.35–12.05 Joško Žanić (Zagreb, Croatia), “On the nature of philosophy” 12.10–12.40 Yafeng Shan (Cohn Institute for the History and Philosophy of Science and Ideas, Tel Aviv, Israel), “What philosophical progress is not” 12.45–13.15 Boran Berčić (University of Rijeka, Rijeka, Croatia), “Philosophy is a reflection about the way in which we justify our beliefs and actions” Lunch break Afternoon session 15.00 – 16.00 PLENARY LECTURE: Nives Delija Treščec (University of Zadar, Zadar, Croatia), “Mimesis as a Method? Platonic art and paideia” 16.05–16.35 Iris Vidmar Jovanović (University of Rijeka, Rijeka, Croatia), “Epistemic significance of philosophical inquiries: a case study in philosophy of art” 16.40–17.10 Matko Gjurašin (Institute of Philosophy, Zagreb, Croatia), “Spinoza—the non-mechanist dialectician” Coffee break 17.30–18.00 Jerzy Gołosz (Institute of Philosophy, Kraków, Poland), “In defense of a dynamic view of reality” 18.05–18.35 Işık Sarhan (Central European University, Budapest, Hungary), “Philosophical progress and the structure of academic research”