

Pozvánka na přednášku v rámci přednáškového cyklu

Renesance a novověk II

Bruno Ćurko

(Institut za Filozofiu, Zagreb)

Two Croatian Renaissance Philosophers: Georgius Benignus and Fredericus Chrysogonus

Georgius Benignus (Juraj Dragišić, Srebrenica 1445-1520, Barlette), gray friar, philosopher and theologian, lived in Zadar, Rome, Bologna, Florence, Padova, Ferrara, Dubrovnik, Roma, Paris and Oxford. He is known for his defenses: Defensorium Bessarionis (1472, in manuscript), Propheticae solutiones pro Hieronymo Savonarola (Florence, 1497), Apologeticon Francisci Mariae de Ruvere Urbini ducis adgressionis in Papiensem cardinalem (before 1511 in manuscript) and Defensio praestantissimi viri Ioannis Reuchlin (Cologne, 1517). Among his the most important and influential belong Dialectica nova secundum mentem doctoris subtilis et Beati Thomae Aquinatis aliorumque realistarum, (Florence, 1488), Mirabilia LXXVII (Florence, 1489), De natura coelestium spirituum quos angelos vocamus (Florence, 1499) and Artis dialecticae praecepta (Rome, 1520).

Fredericus Grisogonus (Zadar, 1472-1538), philosopher, astronomer, physician, mathematician and physicist is among others (commentaries on Euclid's Elements) well known as an author of a theory of tides (De modo collegiandi, pronosticandi et curandi febres, nec non de humana felicitate ac denique de fluxu et refluxu maris (Venice, 1528), containing a theory of measuring tides.

11.11.2014 v 15:00 hod.

Katedra filosofie FF UP Olomouc, Kateřinská 17, učebna 1.16